It's Christmas Eve, and I'm having to ask myself if I'm doing a good job of remembering the reason for the season. Some days, the answer is yes. Other days . . . well, let's just say it's easy to get caught up in the bustle. (Like when people honk at you to get out of their way -- all in the spirit of Christmas, of course.) Anyway, I hope you are able to keep your focus most days too. Have a great celebration of Jesus!
